The Glover Case Again.

It will be remembered that the Glover case entered largely into the political discussions of two years ago. Its revival at this time will, therefore, prove of interest. Not that its disposition affects the merits of the candidates for governor, but because it sheds some light upon the motive which controlled Hon. Thos. E. Watson's actions in the last contest, its revival now will be of interest.

It will be remembered that Glover was a white man in Augusta, convicted and sentenced to hang for the murder of a female companion; after his conviction, Mr. Watson was employed to intercede with Governor Smith for a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment. The appeal was turned down, and Glover was hanged. Almost simultaneously Mr. Watson began to find fault with Governor Smith's administration, and was loud in opposition to his re-election.

It was believed by the Governor's friends that his refusal to commute the sentence of Mr. Watson's client was the moving cause of his opposition. Mr. Watson denied this strenuously, and claimed that he had fallen out with the Governor for other reasons. It was highly interesting, therefore, to hear quoted from Mr. Watson's own pen, in a letter read by Hon. T. W. Hardwick at Thomson last Saturday, words which conclusively convicted the "Red-Topped Person" of the motive charged.

Just before Mr. Watson sought clemency for Glover, he wrote the following letter to Mr. Hardwick:

Thomson, Ga., Dec. 18, 1907.
My Dear Mr. Hardwick:
I must thank you, especially for doing so much to make my visit to the capital one of very great enjoyment. Had a long talk with Governor Smith and everything lovely. He will stay on the job.

(Signed) THOS. E. WATSON.
Following this letter Mr. Hardwick read an extract from a letter dated January 7, 1908, in which Mr. Watson showed a complete change of front and said:

What a heartless game it all is and the coldest, most selfish and ungrateful of the players is Hoke Smith.

Yours truly,

THOS. E. WATSON.

It developed that Mr. Watson's position was brought about by Mr. Smith's attitude in refusing to follow Mr. Watson's plea for clemency in the Glover case and the next letter was as follows:

"Thomson, Ga., August 6.—Hon. T. W. Hardwick, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.:
"My Dear Mr. Hardwick:

"Mr. A. L. Franklin, who has charge of the Glover petition for commutation of sentence, writes me as though he feared Boykin Wright had prejudiced the Glover case with the governor.

"Boykin Wright's intense hatred of Glover originated with Glover's fearless partisanship in '92, and his gallantry in coming to my rescue on the night when the Augusta crowd meant to do me up. "I would feel that, while I risked my life for him in the summer of 1906, he did not have the courage and elemental manhood to risk a little newspaper criticism in my behalf.

"Boykin Wright has no political influence whatever outside of Augusta, and he has mighty little left even there. Why should the governor pay any attention to such a man as this?
"You can readily see how I feel about it.

"Governor Smith should weigh these matters well, for it will make a world of difference in the relations between himself and me, if he should fail to measure up to the size of a full grown man in the emergency. Your truly,

(Signed) "THOMAS E. WATSON."
Later Mr. Watson wrote:
Thomson, Ga., Jan. 28, 1908.
My Dear Mr. Hardwick: Yours received. In the Glover case the governor has shown his lack of moral courage. He has tried to put on others the burden of furnishing him some excuse for commutation instead of boldly acting himself. The governor was reported to have let off a man who waylaid and murdered another in cold blood.

But the governor seems to be afraid of Boykin Wright and has deliberately chosen to gratify Wright's vindictive animosity rather than heed my appeal for moderate punishment.

The governor has chosen and will take the natural consequences.
No such cold-hearted and selfish politician can ever be friend of mine again.

Yours truly,
(Signed) T. E. W.

History of the Gnat.

The common gnat is not very large, but his numbers make him quite important at this time. A discussion of his origin and mission is, therefore, interesting.

A local scientist has discovered, he claims, that the gnat is an evolution from the common flea—that when a flea quits fleeing he turns to a gnat—and he says that he has actually caught one in the act of transmigration. This theory seems unreasonable from the fact that neither a flea or a gnat is ever still long enough to change his coat; and further it is not believed that either would acknowledge kinship to the other even though kinship existed.

Pursuing this line of thought, it was decided to consult the encyclopedia for light on the origin and mission of the gnat, and a few interesting, not to say, important, points were secured. To begin with his name is pronounced "nat," and he is said to be a genus of dipterous insects represented by numerous widely distributed species, and especially abundant in marshy districts. There are nine British species, of which the common gnat may be taken as typical. Be it said to the credit of sex that "the male gnat sips nectar from the flowers and passes his days dancing in the sunlight;" while "the female spends her days and nights in pursuit of men and cattle from whom she may suck more nutritious, if less delicate, diet." If this trait of character is not sufficient to distinguish between the sexes, it may be added as a further word of distinction that the female is furnished with mandibles which are absent in the male.

The humming sound produced by the female in flying, the deeper notes of which are due to the rapid vibration of the wings (computed at 3,000 per minute), the higher to membranes on the thoracic openings of the air tubes, serves in part, doubtless, to attract the males.

Now, it may be that most of our readers have felt that they possessed already sufficient knowledge of the pestiferous insect, but the foregoing scientific points may induce a higher appreciation of his importance. If anything is lacking, let it be added that the encyclopedia concludes its treatise with the additional information that "several generations of gnats follow one another in a season. Gnats occasionally swarm together in such numbers that they represent the appearance of dense cloud of smoke."

Those lawmakers who are now posing as victims of the laws forbidding graft are given a splendid opportunity of learning how the people feel when made victims of legislative laws.

Commissioner Brannen Makes a Statement.

To Whom It May Concern: The law says there shall be only seven grades in the public common schools. As long as this is law (though I am personally against it), I shall do all I can to enforce it. I have no power to allow eighth, ninth and tenth grades taught.

I asked the grand jury last year to give a recommendation waiving as far as it could the punishment of teachers who might teach these grades. They examined into the law, and the foreman told me that it was impossible to give a recommendation against a state law.

I submit this law that you may read for yourself.

J. E. BRANNEN,
C. S. C.

Sec. 14. Be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that any person or persons violating the preceding Section of this Act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than twenty-five dollars.

Penalties for Violation of Law.

Sec. 15. Be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that if any county school commissioner fails or refuses to enforce the provisions of this Act, said county shall receive no part of the public school fund of the State of Georgia until the provisions of this Act have been complied with. Any teacher of a public common school in this state violating the provisions of this Act shall not receive any salary so long as he or she shall fail to carry out the provisions of this Act. Any teacher who shall use or permit to be used in his or her school any text-book upon the branches embraced in this Act, where the commission has adopted a book upon that branch, other than the one so adopted (except it be supplementary readers, as provided in Section 13) shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished as provided in Section 14 of this Act.

Bryan County in Line.

They have told about Bryan county being in the Giles column, but they will sing that tune no more. Mr. Edwards spoke at Pembroke to the largest crowd that has assembled in Bryan county during this campaign on Saturday. The large school auditorium was filled to its full capacity. There was nothing to mar the day, except that one or two Giles supporters got drunk and worried over the big Edwards crowd and got noisy, but soon hushed up. The Giles men admit that Bryan is gone—that is a number of them did so Saturday after the speaking.—Savannah News.

Wireless Officials Indicted by Jury

New York, Aug. 4.—Seven officers of the United Wireless Telegraph company, most of whom had previously been arrested, were indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday on two counts—one charging conspiracy to defraud by use of the United States mails; the other charging conspiracy in devising a scheme to induce investors to buy worthless stock.

The seven indicted men are: President Christopher Columbus Wilson, Vice President Samuel S. Bogart, Secretary W. W. Tompkins, Fiscal Agent George H. Parker, General Manager C. C. Galbraith, Treasurer W. A. Dibell and Francis X. Butler, consul and director of the company. All except Parker were arraigned before Judge Hough in the United States district court and pleaded not guilty. Parker is understood to be on the way here from Seattle to surrender himself.

President Wilson was held in $25,000 bail; Tompkins and Bogart in $10,000 each and the others in $5,000 each. On the first charge all were paroled for one week, and on the second charge they were given two days in which to find bail. They have permission to withdraw their plea of not guilty on or before September 20.

Commissioner's Race is Interesting Proposition.

The statement published in the Bulloch Times week before last that the state school commissioner had overruled the board of education of Bulloch county is false and without foundation.

August 4, 1910.
While the TIMES is certain that, in the above, Mr. Brannen does not intend to impugn falsity to it, we desire to say that insofar as our part in the above matter is concerned, our statement was not without foundation. In making reference to Mr. B. R. Olliff's candidacy, the explanation was made that he had been examined as to his eligibility and declared deficient by the chairman of the board of education of the county; that he had appealed to the state school commissioner on the ground that his papers had not been legally graded, and that

"on this ground he was authorized by the state school commissioner to call for a second grading of his paper. This he did, which set him in position as a legal candidate for the office."

The foregoing statement of the case was based on a conversation with Prof. Olliff on the day he handed in his announcement. He explained to the TIMES that he had taken up the matter with the state school commissioner, and that his entry in the race was based upon the instructions given him by that official; that he had made formal demand for a regrading of his papers, which was not given him, and that under the law he then had a perfect right to enter the race.

What the correspondence may have been between the state school commission and Prof. Olliff, is of course unknown to us. As to the facts and the law in the matter, the TIMES is not the judge or jury. Whether he is a legal entrant in the race for school commissioner, is a question of law, of course. The law requires a candidate to stand examination at least ninety days before the regular election, which in this instance would have been prior to July 7th, since the election will occur October 5th.

Prof. G. B. Franklin, a son of the chairman of the board, read and graded the papers of the three candidates, and turned the same over to the chairman. Under his grading it is said that Prof. Olliff received a mark of 72-2-9 and Prof. Brannen 88-4-5. The percentage required by law is .85. That examination occurred on the 30th of June. At the meeting of the board on July 5th a resolution was passed declaring Prof. Brannen the only eligible candidate.

Chairman Franklin, of the board, contends that the papers were properly graded in the first place, and that he had no authority in law to give Prof. Olliff a new examination or a second grading of his papers when called upon at time stated at the beginning of this article.

The disposition of Prof. Olliff's candidacy, therefore, seems to be a problem. It is denied that he is a legal candidate in the primary, and in the event of his nomination and election it is contended that he cannot be commissioned to the office under the law.

Meantime, it is interesting to note that the position for which the nomination is now being made will not be vacant until April, 1912.

Touching the above matter, the correspondence and other papers following will prove of interest to the public:

July 25, 1910.
Hon. J. E. Brannen, Statesboro, Georgia:
Dear Sir—I have just received your letter of July 23, referring to Mr. Olliff's statement, and enclose you herewith a copy of my reply. As you will see, my reply was exactly opposite to what you had been informed. I declined to interfere in any way, and wrote that the matter was in the hands of the county board of education.

With best wishes, I am sincerely your friend,
M. L. BRITTAIN,
S. S. C.

Professor B. R. Olliff, Register, Georgia:
Dear Sir—I have received your letter of July 16, enclosing one addressed to Mr. Pound, and take pleasure in answering.

The regulations for the examination were placed in the hands of the county board of education, and they, therefore, had authority about the time for beginning, etc. The matter of grading was also committed to the president of the county board and his fellow members or some one designated by them. This being true, it would be manifestly improper for me to interfere in any way with the action of the county board, especially since the law makes the county board of education a tribunal for hearing and determining any matter of local controversy. Very truly yours,
(Signed) M. L. BRITTAIN,
S. S. C.

August 1, 1910.
Hon. J. E. Brannen, Statesboro, Georgia:
Dear Sir—I have just received your letters concerning Mr. Olliff's contest as well as the clippings from the newspaper.

As the copy of my letter to Mr. Olliff shows, I did not interfere in any way with the county board of education. The details connected with this examination were placed in charge of the county board of education, and they had authority to arrange with regard to the grading of the papers, etc., as they saw fit. Very truly yours,
M. L. BRITTAIN,
S. S. C.

The president of the board having held an examination June 30th of the applicants for the office of county school commissioner, and having read the papers with the aid of Mr. G. B. Franklin and having graded said applicants as follows: J. E. Brannen, 88-4-5 per cent; B. R. Olliff, 72-2-9 per cent, and J. E. Rushing, 69 per cent, it is hereby ordered that said report be received, and that J. E. Brannen be the only candidate declared eligible to enter the race for county school commissioner for the term beginning April 2, 1912.

JASON FRANKLIN,
President.

J. E. BRANNEN,
Clerk.

GEORGIA, BULLOCH COUNTY.—In person appeared Jason Franklin, who, being duly sworn, says that he held the examination for applicants for county school commissioner on June 30, 1910; that Mr. B. R. Olliff was an applicant in said examination; that said examination opened at 8:15 a. m. and closed at 8 p. m.; that Mr. Olliff's paper was fairly and impartially graded by myself and George B. Franklin, and that Mr. Olliff made 72-2-9 per cent in said examination, which was not high enough to make him eligible to hold the office of county school commissioner.

JASON FRANKLIN.

W. J. Speer Continues to Receive Strong Endorsements for Re-Election To the Office of State Treasurer

Ex-State Treasurer, Who Again Seeks the Office, Given Strong Endorsement by the Press.

Atlanta Journal: Perhaps no man seeking office was ever given more unanimous support from the press of the state than is being accorded Hon. W. J. Speer, who is asking the voters of Georgia to put him in charge of affairs at the state treasurer's office.

This gentleman served the state in this capacity for twenty years to the complete and entire satisfaction to all.

If the press of Georgia is really powerful, indications are that Mr. Speer will be returned to the office of state treasurer, for from every section of the state comes press endorsements and commendations.

Here are a few of the many comments gleaned from Georgia papers.

Cleveland Courier: Mr. W. J. Speer, a candidate for state treasurer, enjoys looking back upon a clean, spotless and untroubled 20-year record in public office, which to us is the strongest, most forceful argument that can be brought to bear touching his competency and his worthiness. We are as willing for him to serve us now as we were when he, as a Confederate soldier, took up his gun, went to the front, and bared his breast to the enemy in defense of our property and our homes.

Meriwether Vindicator: Mr. W. J. Speer served the state in the capacity of state treasurer a number of years. His administration was able and correct, and he now asks a return to the service in which he was faithful and efficient.

Bookkeeping should figure in every business, but some of the government prosecutions of illegal combinations have developed the fact that some businesses have developed this part of the business out of due proportions.

(London Daily News.)
The late Hermann Vezin, the actor and teacher of elocution, who died on June 12, left an estate of the gross value of £137, with net personality nil. Probate of his will and codicil has been granted to Mrs. Kate Behnke, widow, the sole executrix.

Mr. Vezin left all his property in trust for George Henry Arthur Vezin, whom failing, to the testator's brothers and sisters, Mrs. Hasenclever, of Reimsch, Ehringhausen, Rhen, Prussia; Mrs. Samuel Grant of 1026 Spruce street, Philadelphia; Henry A. Vezin, of Denver City, Colorado; Oscar William Vezin, of New York city, U. S. A., and Otto Vezin, of Crefeld, Germany. The codicil runs:

"I direct the executrix of my said will, or such other person as shall have the disposal of my remains after death, and my wish is that the same shall be reduced to ashes in the least expensive manner at the Golden's Green crematorium, near London, and in the afternoon, if, as I am informed is now the case, a lower charge can be obtained in the morning, and that such process of cremation be attended by no formality or ceremony of any sort or kind, and particularly by no religious service of any description, and that none of the ashes to which my remains are so reduced be preserved or kept by anyone in any urn, receptacle or otherwise howsoever, but that the same be spread as manure on the ground by one of the gardeners at the cemetery at Golden's Green aforesaid."

"And, further, that no tombstone, urn or other monument of any kind be erected or dedicated to my memory; and I also earnestly desire that no relative or friend of mine should express his regret for my death by the wearing of mourning or by the sending of any wreath or floral emblem or token to place on or with my remains or in any other conventional manner."

"And I earnestly request and desire my said executrix or such other person as aforesaid, and all my relatives, friends and acquaintances to respect and observe my wishes as hereinbefore expressed or indicated."

Dots From Eureka.
Mrs. Jessie Jones and little daughter, of Savannah, are spending some time with her sister, Mrs. J. H. Brown.

Miss Marie Morgan, of Clio, has returned home after spending a week here, the guest of Miss Eddie Porter.

Miss Josie Wallace, of near Swainsboro, is spending this week here, the guest of Miss Eddie Porter.

Miss Allie Quattlebaum has returned home after spending some time among relatives and friends in South Carolina. Miss Allie is a charming young lady, and we are glad to have her in our midst again.

Misses Susie and Florence Lindsey gave a delightful entertainment to their young friends Saturday evening, which was immensely enjoyed.

"Children's Day" was duly observed here at the Methodist church the fifth Sunday, which proved a decided success. The program was carried out to the letter. The children acted their part well, and the large audience seemed to be well pleased. Much credit is due Mrs. J. C. Quattlebaum for the interest she took in conducting the exercises. After the exercises were over a bounteous dinner was spread in the shady grove, which proved to be more than the large crowd could consume.

The Sunday-school here is doing finely under the superintendency of Mr. R. B. Quattlebaum.

Politics is rampant in this part of the county, but it seems to be a one-sided affair as to the governor's race—all for Hoke Smith.

Pastor to Have Vacation.

On account of the illness of his little child, Rev. E. M. Overby, pastor of the Methodist church, has been granted a month's leave of absence by his board of stewards, and he left this week to join his family for a visit to Asheville, N. C.

Negro Champion

Wants White Neighbors.

New York, August 5.—Residents of Brooklyn Heights, an exclusive section, where many wealthy New Yorkers have their homes, are in a turmoil over the announcement that Jack Johnson, the negro champion pugilist of the world, is negotiating for the purchase of a house in their midst. According to the real estate men, the deal was to have been closed yesterday, but Johnson was unexpectedly summoned to Chicago on account of an accident which befell his brother.

The price agreed upon is given as $62,500. The house, a three-story structure, is of pressed brick and stone, beautifully decorated and covered with ivy.

Johnson announces that he intends to maintain the house "in a style corresponding to the prevailing fashion in Brooklyn's exclusive social community." One of his nearest neighbors will be the Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, successor to Henry Ward Beecher in the pastorate of the Plymouth Congregational church. Two justices of the state supreme court also live within a stone's throw, together with a score of millionaire bankers, lawyers and business men.

One of the New York papers recently ran a sermon on "Man's Duty to God and Man" alongside of a statement of a sugar trust, official that the tariff has no appreciable effect on the cost of living. It is only a step from the sublime to the ridiculous.

There's no doubt of it. Advertising brings home the sweetness. Recently a gentleman at New Richmond advertised in the Republican for a girl. The paper hadn't been out an hour before a girl was born to him and his wife and new arrival are feeling fine. We know a number of people who should advertise.

The Millionaire Clerk.

(Florida Times-Union.)

The police of the country are asked to watch for a clerk who took a million out of a New York bank and has disappeared. Of course nobody has the least idea where he is and nobody will ever know in all probability, so that we face to face with the question as to how a little clerk only five feet high and carrying the burden of a fifteen-dollar-a-week salary managed to get away with a million even for one day. When that secret has been told there will be something doing. Why should a burglar labor diligently at his vocation for light purses and old watches when he can do so much better as a bank clerk? That million was not suddenly abstracted; it oozed away gradually, and when detection was feared the little bank clerk was given a few hundreds and changed into a scapegoat. It must not be thought that a million can be picked up in a moment even by a bank clerk; it takes weeks and months to get such a sum together, and those who pile it up are bigger than any clerk.

We would deprecate too harsh condemnation of the little fellow even if all we hear is true. When a statesman informs us that a large slice of the fund taxed from us is missing do we think the loss is worthy of remark? Being just what we expected, we pay up the deficit and that statesman gives us a lot of new promises for the old cash; who is the gainer? Afterwards, when the aforesaid statesman is able to buy our votes for a continuation of public confidence we can be proud of our self-made men; we rejoice that he was once as honest and as poor as we, but he is absent of the times and we are not. Of course if we had been given the opportunity we would have done as he did or a majority of us would have done so or some of us might have been smart enough to do as well; why make ourselves unpleasant? Do we hold anybody in office responsible for his smuggling that gets away with a million or two per annum? Then why blame the little clerk that had the good sense to disappear or why condemn the big men behind them? It's all in the game and we can make good the deficit by cutting out the bacon at breakfast or talking postum for coffee or eating a little hay for bread. Never make yourself unpleasant.

The clerk is an evolution. If it is merely business to cabbage public money, why deny that a bank is a corporation? If a statesman is to be applauded for making a pile on a small salary, why blame a clerk? No doubt the millionaire stockholders and the other big men interested must make good the loss; isn't the clerk one of the dear people? To the public treasuries from Uncle Sam's to that of the smallest town is fair game; why object when the rule gets low enough to include a bank or a firm? If stealing be legitimate in one case, why not accept it till we feel the loss?

When a man is down on his knees in a fruitless search for a misguided collar button he seldom associates the position with prayer.

Time wasted telling people they are going to hell sure could be profitably spent in making this old world a pleasanter place to stay in.

J. J. Hill called on Joe Caunan a short time ago, but nothing has yet been railroaded through congress as a result.

The young lady who will acknowledge that her sweetheart has any faults isn't far enough in love yet to make an ideal wife.

The way the newspapers are jumping onto auto speeders leads us to believe that most of the members of the fraternity are still pedestrians.

A blind girl says she can't see why she should love the man she is suing for breach of promise, but she can feel that she does. That is getting the sense of touch developed to a fine point.

A Card From Dr. Parrish.

In the Statesboro News of August 2d there was published an affidavit by Judge J. F. Brannen, in which he makes oath that he "never told Dr. C. H. Parrish, chairman executive committee, not any one else, to not put the name of B. R. Olliff on the primary ticket."

I was absent from Statesboro when this card was published, but my attention was called to same upon my return, and I desire, in justice to myself and all others concerned, to make a short statement to the public. As chairman of the executive committee, it is my wish to maintain a position of strict impartiality and to treat every candidate just and fair.

On the afternoon of July 23, 1910, Judge Brannen stated to me that Mr. Olliff was not eligible for the office of school commissioner and could not hold the office; that he had looked up the law on the subject that afternoon, and that it was my duty to call the executive committee together before the primary and pass upon it.

In fairness to myself and all concerned, I think it proper to give these facts. Beyond this, it is not my duty nor my wish to make any further comment. I am willing for the public to judge as to the effect and meaning of his words.

C. H. PARRISH.
GEORGIA—BULLOCH COUNTY.

You, Dr. C. H. Parrish, do solemnly swear that the facts contained in the foregoing statement are true; so help you God.

HAWES FOR STATE TREASURER

ELBERTON MAN MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT TO VOTERS OF GEORGIA.

To the People of Georgia: I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of state treasurer, subject to the Democratic primary.

In making this announcement, I feel that it is appropriate for me to say that my service for seven years in both branches of the Georgia legislature, during which time many of the present laws relating to banks and bankers were enacted, and my service at the same time on the house committee on banks and banking by which these laws were considered, has given me a clear insight into the Georgia laws concerning banking and finance.

In addition to the foregoing experience, I have been, for fifteen years, president of the Elberton Loan and Savings Bank, in which capacity I may say I have gained very practical experience concerning the operation of those laws, and as a result of which I am in a position to recommend certain improvements in the present laws which will better safeguard the interests of the depositors in Georgia's state banks.

I feel that this important position, I shall give my every effort to the faithful discharge of its duties, to secure me in which I shall receive the services of trained and capable assistants.

I respectfully request the favorable consideration of the Democratic voters of the state.

Yours respectfully,
J. F. BRANNEN.

To the Citizens of Bulloch County: I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of school commissioner of Bulloch county, subject to the Democratic primary of 1910.

The kindness of my friends in the past is fully appreciated. I have endeavored to do my full duty while in office, and it will be my high ambition to continue to do so if I am favored with reelection.

I fully realize the great responsibilities of this office, and the duties of the holder thereof to his constituency. If the voters of the district see fit to elect me, my entire time and energy shall be devoted to the material upbuilding and development of its every interest, and with the consecration of my best efforts and ability, endeavor to build a monument to which the people of my district will not be ashamed to refer as the work of their representative in congress.

Brown's Business (?)

Administration Up to Date

Reidsville, Ga., Aug. 12, 1910.

To the Editor:

The following are some of the reasons why the people of Tattall county should not, and we believe will not, support Governor Brown for governor in the approaching primary on August 23, viz:

At the April term of Tattall superior court the following gentlemen were appointed by the grand jury as notaries public for their respective districts: W. A. Kennedy, 137th district; H. D. Sapp, 143rd district; Lucian Williams, 1601st district; and Wiley Lanier, 351st district. Promptly after court adjourned the clerk, as is his duty, notified the governor of these appointments, so that the commissions could be issued by the governor to them at once.

Nothing being heard from this notice about thirty days thereafter the Ordinary of Tattall, Hon. H. H. Daniel, requested the clerk to again notify the governor of the appointments, which was promptly done. About thirty days ago Mr. Wiley Lanier received his commission. Not one word has been received as to the commissions of the other three gentlemen.

Can such willful neglect of the duties of so important an office as governor of Georgia go unnoticed? The Brown men cry "Brown and Bread," but if they depend on getting bread from the governor's office and he sends out bread like he does commissions they will decide that another Hoke Smith name is being put in the country before they receive a single loaf.

Has the governor a spite against these worthy gentlemen? Or does he desire simply to keep up his old record "Do Nothing?"

However, this is not the only injustice heaped upon Tattall county by Governor Brown.
